Mountain Biking

Bellingham Park Trails

City trail map available at the Visitors Bureau or Parks Dept.

Cornwall Park Trail (1.5 miles) - in Cornwall Park.

Interurban Trail (7 miles) - Fairhaven to Larrabee State Park.

Lake Padden Park Trail (2.6 miles) - around the lake.

Railroad Trail (3.5 miles) - King Street to Alabama & Vining St.

South Bay Trail (2 mile) - connects Fairhaven, Boulevard Park, and downtown.

Whatcom Falls Park Trails (3.5 miles) - trails in and around park.

North Lake Whatcom Park "Hertz Trail" (3 miles one way) - runs along the east shore of the lake. Great views and a waterfall.

Lake Padden single track trails (5.1 miles)

Excellent single track trails connect with Lake Padden Park trail. Access in park or parking lot on Samish Way about 1 mile south of park entrance.

Civic Field Dirt Jump Track

Located near the skate board park on Puget Street one block south of Lakeway Drive.

Logging Roads and County Trails

Some trails on Chuckanut Mountain are available for biking, as well as US Forest Service and logging roads in the region. Contact a bike shop or the Forest Service for details. Galbraith Mountain in Bellingham features miles of trails in and around logging sites. Best to park at Whatcom Falls Park and ride across Lakeway Dr. to Birch Street. Please respect property owners nearby. Map of Galbraith Mountain trails available for $5, or check websites listed on the backside of this sheet.

Road Biking

Bellingham

Bellingham in general has a limited number of streets with designated bike lanes. For low traffic biking, there are several neighborhood, waterfront and park routes. Squalicum Harbor is a great place for a short scenic ride. Refer to city maps.

Whatcom County

County roads offer sweeping views of rural splendor, Mt. Baker, and the waterfront. The Mt. Baker Bicycle Club suggests these loop rides:

Bellingham/Ferndale Loop (18 miles)

Gooseberry Point (30 miles)

Aldrich Road (20 miles)

Lake Samish (16 miles)
